A speech-language pathology assistant (SLP-A) may conduct the following tasks under supervision of the speech-language pathologist (SLP):
- Conduct speech and language screenings utilizing screening protocols specified by the supervising speech-language pathologist;
- Provide direct treatment assistance, excluding dysphasia (as opposed to feeding for nutritional purposes), to students identified by the supervising SLP, by following written treatment plans or protocols developed by the supervising SLP;
- Document student progress toward meeting established objectives as stated in the treatment plan and report this information to the supervising SLP;
- Assist the SLP in collecting and tallying of data for assessment purposes;
- Assist the SLP with informal documentation during an intervention session (collecting and tallying data as directed by the SLP), prepare materials and assist in other clerical duties as specified by the supervising SLP;
- Schedule activities and prepare charts, records, graphs or other displays of data;
- Perform checks and maintenance of equipment.

The SLP-A may perform the following indirect services:
- Perform clerical and administrative functions;
- Organize and manage student data and records;
- Perform clerical duties, such as scheduling of appointments, maintenance of equipment and the set-up of materials for diagnostic and intervention sessions;
- Arrange the educational setting to maintain a safe and positive environment;
- Manage, operate, program and/or monitor equipment and materials;
- Prepare materials for therapy sessions, with input from supervising SLP;
- Perform other duties as assigned by supervising SLP;
- Attend IEP meetings.

The speech-language pathology assistant may not perform the following tasks:
• Conduct swallowing screening, assessment and intervention protocols, including modified barium swallow studies;
• Administer standardized diagnostic tests, formal evaluations, or interpret test results;
• Write, develop or modify a student’s IEP in any way;
• Provide intervention for students without following the treatment plan prepared by the supervising SLP;
• Select students for services;
• Discharge students from services;
• Disclose clinical or confidential information either orally or in writing to anyone not designated by the supervising SLP;
• Make referral for additional service;
• Communicate with the student, family or others regarding any aspect of the student’s status or service without the specific consent of the supervising SLP;
• Represent him/herself as a speech-language pathologist;
• Write a formal screening, diagnostic, progress and/or discharge report.

Non-Essential Job Functions
