Days/Months: 9 months	Grade: 6

Job Summary

Provide support to classroom teachers to effectively implement accommodations for ELL students in the regular classroom. Provide tutoring in content areas to ELL students in English or the students' native language.

Essential Job Functions

Screens students for ELL Program eligibility.

Administers assessments such as the Language Assessment Scales. Assessments are used to measure the English language proficiency of ELL students as required by local, state and federal regulations. Scoring and evaluation of language proficiency assessments will be done by certified ELL Program staff, program office, other agency or outside contractor.

Provides tutoring in content areas in the students' native language, using district curriculum, course texts, class lesson plans or other materials.

Uses skills, experience and training in second language acquisition and academic language development to assist and support regular classroom teachers' efforts to provide appropriate accommodations for ELL students in the mainstream classroom.

Using a thorough knowledge of supplemental materials available through the Federal Programs ESL resource library, provides teachers with a selection of materials from this library to use at their discretion to benefit ELL students' English language acquisition.

Provides content area tutoring and support in English, using technical skills prescribed by certified teachers. This may be done in regularly scheduled classes, in small groups, or on a one-to-one basis.

Maintains program documentation requirements including log of services for all students assigned, testing results, language development progress, teacher comments, parent contact etc.

In consultation with certified teacher(s), assists in formulating each student's English language development goals using appropriate standards based documents: Language proficiency standards, Grade Level Expectations, content area standards.

Conferences with counselors, classroom teachers, students and/or parents as needed.

Prepares translations for program newsletters, announcements, etc., and occasionally for other programs as requested.

Assists in developing or suggesting materials for inclusion in the program resource library.

Participates in and assists with, as requested, districtwide and building level professional development trainings.

Keeps regular classroom teacher(s) informed of students' language development progress.

Attends and/or assists with the coordination of parent conferences by providing or coordinating interpretation support from a Dominant Language Tutor or telephone interpretation service.

Contacts parents and facilitates their participation in the child's formal education.

Assists with playground supervision, lunch duty, and bus duty-not to exceed the duties assigned to other school staff. When Tutor/Instructors are split between multiple school sites, duties are to be proportional to the amount of the school day spent on site.

Promotes cross-cultural awareness and understanding between staff and ELL students. Provides resources to school staff regarding language and cultural background of ELL students. Assists students in developing positive cross-cultural perspectives.

During Multicultural Week and as called on, organizes cultural events, maintains bulletin boards and displays.
