

March Madness at the BEH Library!

Popular YA sports author John Feinstein brings us a non-fiction book about the behind-the-scenes people who bring Division I college basketball to the forefront during March Madness.

This book chronicles the lives, sacrifices, and drama surrounding the 14 player Fort Yukon basketball team, from their first practice to the Alaska State Championship. Winners of six regional back-to-back championships, can they pull it off once again, or will this be the end of a dynasty?

We have two versions of this book: the graphic novel, shown here, and the novel-in-verse, by acclaimed YA author, Kwame Alexander. 14 year old twin basketball stars Josh and Jordan wrestle with highs and lows on and off the court as their father ignores his declining health.

Before placing your bets on the Final Four, read this book that explains how math is used to make decisions in sports and sports gambling.

Depression-era coach rounds up poor Midwesterners with the promise of a free college education if they play basketball. This improbable group of farm girls, the Cardinals, starts winning against established teams.

Also at the BEH Library during March:

- New books from our spring order
- WORDLE book summaries
- Manga-with-an-Anime Display Guide
- Graphic Novel and Partner Reading activities
- SPRING BREAK!!!

